

Abstract

A vitamin-containing system for stabilising the external and the internal immune response of animals consists of two parts or "kits" to be used successively or separately, one mainly including biotin and the other mainly including vitamins E and C. Both kits include allicin and crushed radishes and are mixed in a carrier.

The system is used for prophylactic or curing treatment of a number of diseases in animals, especially in farming stocks.